Well Good Wellbeing

“I have worked as a doctor in the NHS for 16 years. In those 16 years, I have never had access to any formal or consistent programme that looks after my wellbeing. As NHS workers, we spend our whole lives looking after the health and wellbeing of others. And yet – consistent staff wellbeing programmes are a rare thing indeed”.

Our workshops

- Introduction to functional breathing
- Neurodiversity
- Personal resilience
- Mindfulness through scent
- Singing for health & wellbeing
- Beauty in the everyday

About our workshops

Introduction to functional breathing

Facilitated by Dr Louise Oliver

Are you experiencing: stress or excessive breathlessness? Do you have poor sleep, snore, noisy breathing at night? Breathing is generally an automatic process, however it isn't automatically efficient. Improving how efficiently you breathe when awake, asleep and moving improves sleep, stress resilience and reduces breathlessness with movement.

Feedback from individuals who have improved their breathing efficiency:

"The quality of my sleep is so much better, I can recognise and then control the onset of anxiety and feel so much more capable of dealing with life's curved balls. It's even helped my running!"

"I have stopped waking at night with problems with my breathing."

About Dr Louise Oliver

"I qualified as a doctor in 1998 and have worked as a GP in the NHS since 2003. My daily yoga, meditation and breathing practice has significantly improved my focus, concentration, energy levels, quality of sleep, ability to exercise, appreciation for life and stress resilience. Working as a Functional Breathing Practitioner & Therapeutic Life Coach provides me with the time and space to really make a significant impact on the physical and emotional wellbeing of my clients, as

Neurodiversity workshop

Facilitated by Dr Danielle Hann & Dr Lucy Clement

Join us for a conversation and workshop about neurodiversity and how we can better understand all our differences, challenges and strengths, for the benefit of the whole workforce.

We will learn about

- Neurodiversity
- Celebrate our differences
- The benefits of embracing strengths of colleagues within teams
- Supporting people to reach their full potential

About Dr Danielle Hann

Danielle is a GP in Bradford and LMC Medical Director and Deputy Chair of Bradford branch. She is a wellbeing lead within GPMplus, alongside other roles of mentor and appraiser. She has become more and more interested in neurodiversity, especially within the general practice workforce, and how we can all support teams with a more inclusive culture.

About Dr Lucy Clement

Dr Lucy Clement is a GP in Leeds who has been on her own personal discovery over the four years since realising she is neurodivergent, now with confirmed diagnoses of ADHD, Dyslexia and Autism. She is passionate about raising awareness around Neurodiversity, and helping workplaces understand neurodivergent people, from both a strengths and challenges perspective. She is also a Leeds LMC Officer and Leeds ICB Clinical Lead for Neurodiversity.

About our workshops

Personal resilience workshop

Facilitated by Dr John Bibby & Dr Jonathan Dixon

This workshop will provide you with an introduction on how you can improve your personal resilience, and you will leave with a personalised resilience action plan. Areas covered in the workshop will include:

- How to recognise increases in stress levels and burnout
- Practical tools that will aid your resilience, through developing practical habits that you can use during your working day.

About Dr John Bibby

John was a GP Partner in a large practice in North Bradford for 31 years. Currently he is a GP Appraiser & Appraisal Lead for NHSE and Wellbeing lead for GPMplus. John has been involved in education throughout his career, both undergraduate and postgraduate, having been a GP tutor, GP trainer, and VTS course organiser. Over the years he has been a board member of various organisations including PCT, CCG, and CSU and the National Association of Primary Care Educators.

About Dr Jonathan Dixon

Jonathan is a Partner in a training practice in Bradford. He is a GP Appraisal Lead and an Associate Medical Director (GP Support) for NHS England and the Mentoring Lead for GPMplus. He is passionate about helping primary care organisations create the conditions where healthcare providers flourish and believes strongly that team members must provide good care for each other first, before they are able to provide good quality care for patients.

Mindfulness through scent

Facilitated by Dr Zoe Watson

Come and explore the fascinating connection between our olfactory systems and our emotions. Why do certain smells evoke such powerful emotions and memories? And can we use this phenomenon to our advantage to deliberately create a scent that we associate with feeling relaxed? During this workshop we will: discuss some scent memories from our lives; reflect on the power of scent to influence mood; make a bespoke essential oil blend; meditate using the bespoke scent we've created to promote a sense of relaxation.

About Dr Zoe Watson

"I've worked as a doctor in the NHS for 17 years and in that time I've had my fair share of ups and downs. Over the years, whenever I have struggled with my mental health – I've turned to things like creativity, music, comedy and funny animal videos on YouTube to try and get me through. And I wanted to create a place that offers all of that and more."

The Wellgood Wellbeing platform is unlike any other wellness website out there. This is wellbeing done right – with a huge scoop of fun, a side order of evidence-based medicine and a large dollop of inclusivity, accessibility and zero-judgement.

Sophie Wallace and Keely Hodgson

About Keely Hodgson

Keely Hodgson is a professional musician, composer, arranger and Natural Voice Practitioner who leads community choirs. She has worked in Primary and Special School settings and with adults with learning difficulties. She plays guitar, cello and sings with the Bring Me Sunshine Trio who take interactive workshops into care homes. She also leads Heart & Soul Singing Retreats in the Yorkshire Dales.

About Sophie Wallace, RGN, MSc Advance Practice

Sophie has 30 years' experience in Intensive Care nursing, and more recently in General Practice. Her passion for music and health led her to complete her dissertation on whether music can reduce delirium in critical care patients, inviting musicians onto the unit and witnessing the changes this made.

Keely and Sophie began Singing for Lung Health in 2022 for people living with chronic lung disease and they are both part of the Bring Me Sunshine Trio taking music into care homes and schools, or individuals in their homes.

About our workshops

Beauty in the everyday: a moment to pause, connect with nature and appreciate

Facilitated by Dr Alison Smith

The human soul is hungry for beauty; we seek it everywhere - in landscape, music, art, clothes, furniture, gardening, companionship, love, religion, and in ourselves.

When we experience the beautiful, there is a sense of homecoming.

John O'Donohue

Purpose of the session: to feel grounded, connected to nature, each other and ourselves and to notice and appreciate the beauty around us.

Join me for an hour of creativity and calm contemplation as we connect with nature and take time to appreciate the beauty of flowers and natural elements around us. Enjoy a moment to pause and escape the noise, to slow down and observe.

The session will be conducted in a Thinking Environment. After years of research and observation Nancy Kline, founder of Time to Think®, recognised that we generate our best thinking if the people around us behave in certain ways. It is the most effective, simple way I have yet discovered which allows every person to think for themselves, as well as for groups of people to come together, think creatively and share knowledge respectfully.

Experience how noticing nature can be a powerful tool for wellbeing of body, mind and soul.

About Dr Alison Smith

Dr Alison Smith has been a coach for five years and in that time has worked with well over one hundred clients, the majority being doctors and other professionals working within healthcare. She holds an ILM 5 Diploma in Coaching and is a Time to Think certified coach. Much of Alison's coaching takes place outdoors in nature, which provides a wonderful sense of equality, ease and perspective for her clients.

Alison has enjoyed a rich and varied career in the NHS prior to training as a coach, and was a GP for many years. She is founder of Earth and Bloom, a place to enable people to ground, connect and flourish. Through one to one coaching, small group gatherings and retreats, she creates a space that is free from rush or urgency, where we can all do our best thinking.
