

GPMplus wellbeing courses

For the whole practice team

March - June 2024

GPMplus offers a range of high-quality courses, free to access thanks to funding from NHSE/I, with something suitable for all members of the practice team.

The courses, all held on Zoom and delivered under the banner of 'The Healthy Practice', focus on practical tips and advice to

- learn practical tools and techniques to support your wellbeing
- build resilience
- develop strategies to resolve work issues
- improve understanding within teams

The programme includes a range of courses focused on different challenges and targeted at different audiences – some are designed for those in leadership roles, some are particularly for clinicians and many are for all members of the practice team.

What is resilience?

Our Healthy Practice courses and other GPMplus programmes talk about building resilience – but what does this mean?

Resilience is the ability to adapt or recover after a period of change or difficulty e.g. to be able to survive a crisis and thrive in a world of uncertainty.

It is NOT absorbing whatever work throws at you and coping with an increasingly toxic environment. Nor is it becoming insulated against, or disengaged from reality.

Personal resilience is the ability to cope well and recover from setbacks. In primary care we are experts at managing risk so it should come as no surprise that things often don't turn out as predicted. Resilience training teaches self-care, adaptability, and the knowledge of where to deploy our often limited & stretched resources for optimal gain.

Team resilience is a learned set of skills and behaviours producing engaged, thriving team-members able to perform at their best, particularly when under stress. Engendering a sense of shared values, allowing frequent and honest feedback to inform change, enabling leadership and expertise to develop, and fostering co-dependency and a no-blame culture are fundamental to this state.

Systems resilience recognises that to be a Healthy Practice requires not just Personal & Team resilience but also systems /processes that are effective and flexible enough to adapt to the changing requirements of primary care.

Personal Resilience courses for everyone

Personal Resilience half day 4 hours

This course aims to support individuals working within General Practice and decrease the risk of burnout through tools and techniques in mindfulness, positive psychology and resilience.

Personal Wellbeing - 1.5 hours

This course will help you explore your own wellbeing and discuss how you can maintain your wellbeing through evidence based approaches and practical exercises.

Burnout: prevent and repair 1.5 hours

You will learn about what burnout really is and how to recognise it in ourselves and those around us. You will explore ways of avoiding burnout, and what to do if you are heading towards burnout, or already experiencing it.

Tiny Habits - 1.5 hours

Do you want to make a change in your work or personal life but don't know where to start? Does the change seem too big, are you struggling to find the motivation to implement it?

In this workshop you'll discover that BJ Fogg's scientifically established system of behaviour change can help you build strong and positive habits quickly and effectively in all areas of your life.

Team Values & Culture

Team Values and Culture

1.5 hours

This course looks at the research behind developing team culture, the importance of ensuring psychological safety, why establishing the values of an organisation underpins everything else, and the 'sweet spot' when passion, values and signature strengths all intersect, and teams move to high performance mode.

We introduce case studies, individual /group exercises, tools and top tips, all relevant for leaders in primary care teams, and you will formulate your own action plan to take back to your practice to help support change.

Team Leadership & Engagement 2 hours

This course will define good and bad leadership, share important tools to take back to your organisation to develop leadership skills and allow you to formulate your own leadership action plan.

Conflict on the frontline 1.5 hours

This bite-size course is for non clinical staff to help dealing with Conflict and difficult interactions with patients. It is suitable for the reception team, administrators, and Practice Managers, particularly staff with a direct patient contact role, or those supporting them.

Effective Appraisals 1.5 hours

This workshop is for anyone who wants to set up an effective appraisal system at work, or feels their current system is lacking in some way. We look at the purpose of appraisal, boundaries, scope and style, and the pros and cons of various forms. We look at GP and Nurse appraisal, how to reflect and how to demonstrate quality improvement in appraisal documentation. As with all our courses you will come away with a 3-point action plan based upon your (and your organization's) development needs in this area.

Systems resilience courses

For everyone, but may be most suited to those in a management role

Practice Systems Resilience half day - 4 hours

This course will allow you to reflect and share processes currently in place in your practice, discover tools and techniques to help your organisation become more resilient and access resources and a community of practices to provide ongoing support.

Successful Complaints Management: A Systems Approach - 1.5 hours

This course will cover both the factual and process elements of complaints but will also focus on the emotional aspects of managing complaints. It will help you to consider why complaints happen, why a robust complaints system can be effective and efficient and how, by encouraging a positive mindset, we can look after ourselves and each other.

The Green Practice - 1.5 hours

There is huge scope in primary care to have a positive impact on our climate. Making green changes can improve health, reduce health inequalities, improve workload and reduce costs whilst mitigating against the climate crisis. This course is designed to help you understand where you can make changes, and give you the tools to begin.

Contingency Planning for Crisis Aversion - 1.5 hours

Events are varied and hard to predict, but we can classify them and ensure simple contingencies are in place to improve our chances of business continuity and even thriving. We will discuss the steps in formulating a business continuity plan (a CQC requirement) and share ideas and best practice in facilitated group discussions.

Systems resilience courses

For everyone, but may be most suited to those in a management role

Financial and Business Resilience 1.5 hours

This course, for practice managers, GPs and senior leaders, highlights the steps required to gaining greater financial confidence.

We cover how to identify all income streams, reimbursements, deductions, expenditure, negotiating maintenance costs, forecasting, economic planning and ensuring shared responsibility for savings and efficiency.

New To General Practice Partnership 2 hours

This course is aimed at those who have recently joined or are considering moving into GP partnership. This may be from a salaried or trainee role or other roles considering partnership, such as practice managers and nurses.

Partners still in early years but feel they need a refresh on core responsibilities and skills, may also benefit. The course will cover the challenges of being a business owner, whilst maintaining clinical duties, review the basics of belonging to a partnership, including the business and finance responsibilities, and look at the resilience needed within a partnership to ensure it can function effectively.

1/3/5 year Business Planning - 2 hours

This course is aimed at those who are involved in future planning within their practice. This can be GP partners, practice managers, finance managers or salaried GPs with an interest in developing their skills for future partnership.

The course looks at assessing the current position of the practice, making decision on future goals, willingness to change, strategies and contingency planning.

Other courses

For everyone, but may be most suited to those in a management role

Managing, Maintaining and Monitoring Change - 1.5 hours

This course underpins all the other courses that are part of the Healthy Practice Model.

The course will give you the skills to help bring about, maintain and monitor the changes you wish to implement after you have attend any of the other courses. You will be shown tools to help bring about both team and individual change, and you will also be given tools to measure the effectiveness of the changes that you implement.
